Cylinder panic release lock

Increase safety and controlled access with this Cylinder panic release lock. Featuring an active EU cylinder and fitting both EU and US cylinders, it ensures swift exit through a panic release that transforms any door into an escape route.

The Cylinder panic release lock is designed for environments that require dependable safety without compromising ease of exit. Its active locking function is powered by an EU cylinder, ensuring robust control over authorized access. Compatible with both EU and US cylinder formats (EU shape), it provides straightforward installation on single hinge doors. In urgent situations, the integrated panic release swiftly converts the door into a secure escape route, granting occupants immediate egress while maintaining reliable day-to-day protection.
